

Rep. Braley will hold a Telephone Town Hall on the Economic Stimulus Package. This format will allow thousands of eastern Iowans to join in the virtual meeting.

Washington, DC - Tuesday night, Rep. Bruce Braley (D-Iowa) will hold a telephone town hall meeting with First District residents to discuss the economic stimulus package moving through Congress and answer questions about the proposal.

The virtual meeting comes one week after Braley held a series of town hall meetings across eastern Iowa to discuss the stimulus. The three events in Waterloo, Davenport, and Dubuque were attended by over 1,000 Iowans.

The technology employed by Braley will call out to thousands more Iowans in the First District who may have been unable to attend last week's meetings. Residents can then choose to participate in the forum when reached.

Iowans can also dial into the telephone town hall using the call-in information below. Members of the media wishing to cover the telephone town hall can also use the call-in information below.
